City's Newest Restaurant Schedules Grand Opening

Specializing in exotic dishes, ranging from edible orchids to "man-fed" sharks, the Polynesian restaurant on Pacific Coast Hwy. in Torrance will hold its grand opening Nov. 23. Completely staffed by Pacific Islanders, the restaurant will serve the most complete Polynesian and Cantonese menu on the mainland. Head chef will be Henry Yee, who has had 20 years experience in top restaurants in the United States and Hawaii.

An authentic replica of a Samoan chief's hut will house the main restaurant, which will overlook a luau feast area for 800 persons. Landscaping will feature giant palms, almost 500 tropical plants and a 25-foot waterfall.

The bar will offer a variety of concoctions, including a "Rapa Vahines," which is a communal drink served in a 120-ounce container with three two-foot straws.

Managed by Pete Reitz, Dick Meyers and Paul Paine, formerly heads of the Ltau-Hawaii Catering Co., the restaurant will also be available for club meetings, banquets, and special events.

MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY PLEDGE CHECK SLATED IN HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

The first week in December has been proclaimed as "Fire Fighters Weeks for Muscular Dystrophy in Torrance" by Mayor Albert Isen.

Members of the Torrance Fire Department will go throughout the city, collecting funds for victims of muscular dystrophy. Chairman of the campaign is Capt. Walter West.

In his proclamation, the mayor pointed out that muscular dystrophy is a dread disease which has stricken more than 200,000 Americans—a majority of them children.

Checking of pledges made to the proposed $1,100,000 Bay-Harbor Osteopathic Hospital will get under way this week with volunteer workers assisting Mrs. Alice Quiros, headquarters director, with the task.

Mrs. Vivian Johansen and Mrs. Jean McNeerney of San Pedro, volunteer recruitment chairmen, said that more than a score of volunteer workers will be needed to classify and tally the pledges secured by doctors.

Total contributions to the hospital fund are well over $300,000 this week. The fund drive volunteer workers must show officials of the State Department of Public Health pledges for one-third of the cost of the hospital in order to qualify for the $594,892 allocation from the Hill-Burton fund.

Bank and credit officials are called upon to evaluate the pledges prior to the final presentation of the hospital program to the Hill-Burton official. Deadline for the presentation of the final data is Dec. 9. Additional funds are still needed according to Dr. George Wall, San Pedro, general fund drive chairman.

Seal Sale Set

Mrs. Dean Brown of Gardena, Mrs. Glenn Mahoney of Torrance and Victoria Park, and Mrs. Ronald Runciman of San Pedro are heading a special Bay-Harbor Osteopathic Auxiliary committee on Christmas seal sales. It was announced yesterday. The women plan one of the most active sales of its kind ever attempted.

Funds realized from the seal sales will go into the organization's fund to meet its $5000 pledge to the $1,100,000 Bay-Harbor Osteopathic Hospital, planned to be built in Harbor City.

Campaign for funds for the new 50-bed Osteopathic facility will continue to Dec. 9, deadline for presentation of pledges to state and federal officials for qualification for Hill-Burton funds amounting to $594,892. The district is required to have valid pledges on hand for one-third of the cost of the project in order to qualify.
